

Pell Frischmann

BIM POLICY

The Company's policy on Building Information Management (BIM) applies to all companies in the Pell Frischmann Group including any subsidiaries.

The Company is a multi-disciplinary engineering consultancy providing expertise in infrastructure and the built environment.

The Policy of the Company is that our services to the client are performed in a manner that satisfies client's and relevant interested parties needs and expectations, compliance obligations regarding quality, BIM, health and safety, environment, reliability and performance criteria.

This Policy has been formalised in the Company's Business Management System which meets the requirements of the various Standards, Methods and Procedures such as PAS1192- 2:2013. The scope of the Business Management System is:

- Project management
- Multi-disciplinary design
- Principal Designer services
- Quantity surveying services
- Construction supervision

The Business Management System has the active commitment of the Board and Senior Management Team, who identifies improvements and ensures that it is continually improved. The ultimate responsibility for the Business Management System is with the Board and the Managing Director who provides the necessary financial and physical resources.

The Business Management System is communicated and understood at all levels of the Company through formal training and on-the-job support, to achieve our BIM standards. All Company personnel are responsible for the quality of their own work and that of personnel reporting to them and must observe and comply with the Business Management System.

The BIM objectives of the Company are as follows:

- To maintain a skilled workforce with appropriate expertise in BIM
- To encourage a culture of innovation, sharing best practices and experience both technically and in the way, we work using BIM
- To deliver clients superior quality, integrity, value and service
- To ensure fluent and easy access to BIM data via the Common Data Environment (CDE)
- To ensure there is collaboration between all stakeholders
